

Audi Genuine Oil

Quality, Performance and Reliability

The highly advanced engines of our Audi vehicles have been a symbol of driving pleasure, efficiency and reliability for many years. In order to deliver their full performance potential and function smoothly for long periods of time while being subjected to a wide range of climatic conditions and fuel qualities, they must be supplied with the right lubricants.

High-performance engine oils from Audi are an ideal choice. They are manufactured in accordance with the exacting standards of Volkswagen Group, are perfectly matched to the respective engine and offer numerous outstanding performance features:

Audi Genuine Oil reduces friction between moving parts to a minimum, thus extending the life of the engine.

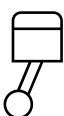

Audi Genuine Oils stand out in temperature stability and offer a high degree of cold start-up reliability.

Reduced friction makes it possible to reduce emissions and fuel consumption.

Carefully selected additives reduce oil consumption and negate the need to add further additives to the engine oil.

The engine oil remains sufficiently fluid even under heavy use and rapidly reaches all lubrication points.
